No County Nurse—Ask Mr. Rardin!

But for the failure of the County Commission to elect the appointment of the "only certified applicant" for the vacant position of Nurse, the Belle Glade area would now have one Public Health Nurse to serve it, when the County Health Officer says "We could use ten nurses in the Belle Glade area. Santa Claus would furnish the money, but we lack the one that is authorized."

Dr. Brumback, when phoned by THE HERALD, said, "The procedure for filling the position is (1) Application to the Florida Merit System for certification of eligible applicants; (2) Appointment by the Health Officer from that list (3) Acceptance by County Commission by signature (4) Acceptance by Florida Public Health System and (5) Appointment by Tallahassee."

"There was one name certified by the Florida Merit System and one service satisfied this office. The appointment was made but the signature of the Commission was not forthcoming."

The Chairman of the County Commission says by telegram "not presented to Board for official action" in reply to one from THE HERALD asking what Commission proposes.

BG Building Over Million In First Eight Months '55

Marking the first time in the history of Belle Glade that building has ever reached near a million in any one year, permits have soared to a new high of $1,077,310 from January through August of this year, according to Building Inspector W. L. Cunningham, Sr.

This figure shows an increase of $328,280 over the same period in 1954 and with four months to go, building in '55 is expected to reach new heights.

Building valuation for the month of August totaled $182,500 with the largest permit issued during the month for $64,500, a four-room addition to the Belle Glade High School.

Other permits included seven new homes, one garage, three business and rooming houses, 21 repair, five additions, three alterations, two moving making a total of 43.

Permits issued included a garage apartment to Herman G. G. 233 N.W. 8th St., $8,000; Duplex, S. L. Teague, 545 S.W. 10th St., $11,000; garage, Carl Inganson, 1500 W. ## Lions Not Deterred In Lese Majesty To District Governor

When grown men in following their gregarious inclinations mix a bit of horse-play along with serious considerations of the community's problems there is still hope for the well-being of their particular community.

District Governor W. A. Campbell of Miami Beach paid his official visit to Belle Glade Lions Wednesday and protocol normal on such occasions was being followed to the letter when Sergeant Verne Clark of the local police appeared on the scene under instructions from Miami Beach to apprehend a "suspicious character" who left Miami Beach in a Cadillac and presumably headed for Belle Glade.

Former District Governor Emmett Roberts appeared to the group and finally it was arranged that the District Governor's presence would be assured when the meeting was over. To accomplish this, Mrs. Marian Nejaire, who is a member of the group, was asked to accompany him.

Despite the loss of freedom of one hand the District Governor delivered his prepared address on the "roaring Lions" accomplishments with a few words for the local club.

He appealed to local Lions to remember that next June the Lions International convention in Miami would bring about 50 to 60,000 visitors from all over the world.

Ramie Fiber Spun On Cotton System Growers Are Told

Harley G. Morton, Fiber Specialist of the II Board, working with the Everglades Experiment Station displayed 100 per cent ramie fiber carded and spun on the Cotton System, in a report to members of the Resources Board Fiber Committee in Belle Glade, Wednesday night.

Dr. R. V. Allison, Chairman stated after the meeting "This demonstration of the spinning of ramie fiber in 1 1/2 inch and 3-inch staple lengths on the ordinary cotton system is the greatest single accomplishment in the mechanical preparation of ramie fiber for the ultimate user."

Mr. Morton told the dozen ramie enthusiasts "It was just one of those 'trial and error' efforts and we happened to hit the jackpot. There are two features of this discovery: first there is the carding and then for three-inch staple a gadget has been invented which makes it economically practicable to convert any ordinary staple into the cotton spinner to handle the three-inch staple."

"We have several large tonnage users of fibers now making samples of fabrics and industrial items which, if they sell will insure orders of many times the tonnage of ramie now being produced in the Glades," Mr. Morton continued. (Continued on Page Four)

Swimming Pool And Bond Issue!

You can catch the voting records of the City Commission to see which commissioners favor Belle Glade having a swimming pool.

The franchise with Florida Power and Light was recommended on the commitment that the proceeds would be devoted to recreation facilities and operation—which meant to the public—a swimming pool for the whites and community facilities for the negro population.

Opponents of the plan are energetic in work and conversation, and some are a bit careless about sticking to the facts, if they know them.

No proposal for issuing bonds has anticipated or permitted any payment of the bonds or interest from the general fund.

The only payments to be obligated will come from the franchise money and is so stipulated in the bonds. Anyone saying or estimating any other payment lacks substantial character or information.

If you favor a swimming pool, and facilities for the negro population, assure yourselves from each candidate his stand before you vote.

If you've bought a radio, television, automobile, or on credit, you'll understand how it is proposed to finance the swimming pool. If Uncle has left you a monthly allowance, you can do too. (Continued on Page Four)

Post 20 Leads State In Float Entry For Nat'l Convention

Everglades Post 20 was advised yesterday it is the first Florida post to enter a float in the 1955 national convention parade of the American Legion, Oct. 11 in Miami. It will be in competition with more than 36 floats representing state departments of the Legion for $1,500 in prize money.

Joe H. Adams, Miami convention corporation president, hailed the Everglades Post's action in providing a float as an outstanding accomplishment.

"This post has a membership of 275 has done more than many state departments with memberships running into thousands," Adams told J. B. Jones, chairman of the post's convention committee and a member of the corporation's board of directors.

The float is intended to focus the eyes of a half-million parade-goers on Belle Glade as the "Winter Vegetable Center of America." In addition, it is hoped the float may be picked up by nation-wide television.

It will feature Everglades products including a Brangus bull, sugar cane, ramie, potatoes, corn, celery, cabbage, radishes, and other vegetables.

Aboard it will be five Glades lovelies: two as cow girls, another pair as farmettes and an Everglades Queen. Four Legionnaires with bags of Everglades "black gold" (muck soil) will accompany the float.

Thousands of bags of muck soil will be distributed to American Legionnaires driving to the convention at a barbecue from noon to 8:00 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 9 here.

Another 10,000 bags of muck will be distributed during the convention in Miami.

Adams also advised that news of the Everglades Post's activity has been rushed to the National public relations division of the American Legion at Indianapolis for possible distribution to more than 17,000 Legion posts.

Do You Want Belle Glade To Grow?

You will vote on an amendment to the City Charter on Tuesday!

It allows a majority to increase your city limits, and at the same time prevents any under-the-table manipulations.

Recently a small area wished to become a part of the City of Belle Glade, by expressed wish of all the resident freeholders. When the election was held it failed to carry because of lack of a majority to vote in the election.

Under the proposed amendment, ALL registered freeholders in the area desiring to come in may petition the Commission. The City then passes a resolution declaring its intention and publishes for four weeks, and then passes the necessary resolution.

However, if 10 registered voters of the City, or any owner of the real estate in the area to be annexed, files with the Circuit Court objections, and a copy with the City, then the court decides.

If the court says no annexation, that's it. If, however, no order against the incorporation is issued by the Court, then the Commission may take it in.

The City also may call for a referendum in which freeholders in the area in question may vote. A majority of THOSE VOTING must be in favor to allow the annexation.

Presently no action has been made to the city limits since its original incorporation.

There are 5 to 6,000 folks just outside the City who are eligible to become citizens of our City, to the mutual advantage of all.

Let's at least give ourselves an opportunity to allow a majority to decide what they want.

Ambitious Ability Augurs Rams' Wins In Present Season

By JACK McCASKILL

The Belle Glade Rams ended their first full week of practice last today with a sharp scrimmage. Although the opening game of the 1955 season is not until Friday, Sept. 23, it is still two weeks away. Head coach, Peacock, and his assistants, Ouellette and Godwin have been putting their charges through their paces early and late regardless of the weather.

It is generally believed that Belle Glade will field a better club than last year's in spite of the fact that the team has been riddled by graduation. This year there are 26 boys battling for starting position, whereas this time last year there were only 18 aspirants. The line, though, is a last experience, will be somewhat heavier than the 1954 forward wall. The boys up front should still average about 160 pounds per man once they have rounded into shape. The 1955 backfield was about as packed up last years but will pack considerably more speed.

Veteran Johnny Miller, senior guard seems to be the boy to watch in the line this year. Johnny weighs in at 175 pounds, is a good leader, and lives to play the game particularly on defense. Kenny Norris, Willard Garrett, J. C. Womack are heavy prospects for the tackle posts.

All three of these boys are heavy enough and have a lot of rugged football is expected from them. Pushing these boys hard for their positions will be John Frevett and Vance Broome. Two boys who are making the struggle interesting for the guard positions are Wayne Mox and Jerry Frier. Both of these are rookies but they are rapidly gaining experience in Florida and railroading in Tennessee. Four years spent in business in Miami. Family includes four children reared in the Glades. Co. Tomato Marketing Agreement Voted

Every commercial tomato grower in Palm Beach County is being urged to vote in a mailing referendum Sept. 10-20 to determine whether a proposed tomato marketing agreement and order will be placed in effect.

Ballots are being mailed out this weekend by County Agent Mounts who says any grower who fails to receive a ballot can obtain one at his office. Ballots should be returned to the county agent and postmarked not later than midnight, Sept. 20.

Dr. W. E. Black, vegetable marketing economist with the Agricultural Extension Service in Gainesville and the county agent at each place have conducted meetings of growers this week at Ruskin, Fort Pierce, Immokalee and Homestead.

The proposed program would apply to commercial growers in southern Florida. It would authorize Florida Tomato Committee, consisting of 15 producer members, to recommend to the Secretary of Agriculture grade, size, quality and container regulations.

The program will be placed in effect only if approved by at least two-thirds of all growers casting ballots in the referendum.

UNDER FREEDOM'S SKIES!

Freedoms Need a Watchful Eye

We Americans have more individual freedoms than any other people in the world, and are free to act as we wish, provided of course that our actions do not curtail the liberties and freedoms of others.

Our American business system is quite different from government-controlled systems under which the individual freedoms we enjoy are distorted or completely eliminated. Action which limits economic freedom also reduces political and individual freedoms.

To preserve our individual freedoms we must keep a watchful eye on proposed changes in our business system, viewing each proposal as to its immediate effects compared to its long-range effects.

One of our most important civic duties is to exert our efforts against those changes in our business system which would tend to destroy our individual freedoms, and to promote those policies which will improve our American business system.

PORT OF PALM BEACH OFFERS STUDENTS AID IN STUDYING OPERATION

In letters mailed Aug. 30 to Howell Watkins, County Superintendent of Public Instruction and Sister Genevieve, O.P., Principal of St. Ann's High School, West Palm Beach, G. M. Anelli, Traffic Manager of Port of Palm Beach, extended official invitation to principals of Junior High and High Schools to arrange educational visits to the Port of Palm Beach during the current school year.

"Educationally, Port of Palm Beach offers students a most practical opportunity to inspect facilities and learn at first hand about our modern scope and operation as the leading high-classed import-export seaport of South Florida and growing importance to this community in particular, and the American Merchant Marine in general," Anelli wrote.

Waterfowl Hunters Get A Ten-Day Extension

Migratory waterfowl hunters will have an open season of 10 consecutive days from Nov. 1 through Jan. 15, under regulations announced by A. D. Aldrich, director, Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission. Hunting will begin one-half hour before sunrise and continue to sunset every day, including opening day. Daily bag limit and total possession limits remain at four and eight on ducks, two and four on geese, and ten and ten on geese. Only one wood duck will be permitted in day's bag, and two in possession.

A 15-day season for hunting snipe (jackknipe) has been set for Dec. 24 through Jan. 7, with daily bag and possession limits both set at eight.

The 70-day waterfowl season represents an extension of 10 days over the 1954-55 season of 60 days. In announcing the extension, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service is anticipating a fall flight of a bumper crop of wild ducks and geese from their Canadian breeding grounds, Aldrich stated. Flights of migratory waterfowl are expected to be the best since 1952.

Too Late To Classify

By RUSSELL KAY Two outstanding commercial attractions in the Los Angeles area are Disneyland and Knott's Berry Farm. Both are fabulous and draw a swarm of visitors daily, weather permitting.

Disneyland, opened this year and constructed at a cost of over $17,000,000, is a wonderland beyond belief. Here Walt Disney has created a miniature World's Fair in the form of a fantastic city that delights young and old.

Patterned after an American Community of the 1900 era, it presents the horse-drawn street car, fire engine and patrol wagon; cops with brass buttoned uniforms and helmets, who wing street cleaners with pushcart and shovel. Silent movies that feature Gloria Swanson, Keystone Comedies and William S. Hart westerns, horse drawn fire engines, and plays fantasy across the board with such features as Tomorrow Land where you can board a rocket to the moon, or Frontier.

Knott's Berry Farm, which opened in 1940, is a miniature of the past. It features a variety of attractions including most and drawbridge, while Sleeping Beauty's castle is seen in all the splendor of our fairy tale imagination. Deep dungeons with rack and wheel generate the visitors' shudders. Never Land tells the familiar stories of fantasy and fable and brings to life such characters as Mr. Toad, Snow White and countless others.

Pressed for time, we spent only a half day at Disneyland where we might have stayed for several days and still failed to see it all. We might have ridden Dumbo the elephant or taken a trip on the Mississippi Steamboat, or enjoyed a ride in the old stage coach, or a burro trip in search of gold with an old prospector as our guide.

But another attraction awaited us as we said good bye to Disneyland and hurried to Knott's Berry Farm a few miles distant. This attraction, to me, was even more fabulous than Disneyland for it was developed by one family who started from scratch with no money to work with and created an attraction by sheer effort and hard work that not only rivals Disneyland but can hold its own against an investment of $17 million.

In 1920, Walter Knott, his wife and small children migrated to California and rented 10 acres in Buena Park, an agricultural area not far from Los Angeles. They grew berries and raised chickens. The depression came along and they needed something to supplement their income, so Mother Knott made berry pies and preserves that they sold at a roadside stand.

So good were their products that customers swamped them. They opened a small restaurant and served fried chicken country style with berry pie for dessert.

Then came the preserving plant and an enlarged restaurant, and Papa Knott conceived the idea of creating an old Ghost Town where visitors could roam the area after dinner and pan for gold if they liked.

Today their restaurant can serve 1,750 people at one sitting. Their Ghost Town is the most complete and realistic presentation ever conceived. Seven hundred and fifty employees are required to care for the throng that swarms over the place each day. In 1954 they served 1,444,171 chicken dinners and patronage continues to increase by leaps and bounds.

We visited the place in mid-week but it was jammed and packed. One can imagine what it would be on Sundays or holidays. Above and beyond its appeal as an attraction is its tribute to the opportunity that America offers those with vision, courage and ability who have faith in the principle of free enterprise.

While Disney's achievement is amazing and worthwhile, Knott's Berry Farm is much more so because it was developed from nothing. Disneyland was created with a capital of $17 million.

In Florida Dick Pope has done much the same as the Knott family has in the development of famed Cypress Gardens, while Sherry Davidson and Ed Ray can point with pride to their development of Silver Springs; but our two major attractions do not command half the attendance of these two California shows due to the fact that they do not have the populated area to draw from.

Social Security For Farm Workers Provided

Hundreds of farm operators in Palm Beach, Martin, St. Lucie, Indian River, Okeechobee, Glades, and Hendry counties have already indicated they expect to pay at least one hired hand $100 or more in cash wages this year. R. C. Gehrken, Jr., District Manager, Social Security Administration, West Palm Beach, announced today. Employer Identification Numbers for these farmers have been assigned and they have been put on the mailing list to receive tax return forms about January 1.

Any farm worker paid $100 or more cash wages in a year by one farm operator has been covered by social security since January 1955. Coverage of farm workers is based on annual earnings; therefore, it is necessary for farm operators to keep a record of the earnings of each employee he expects to pay cash wages of $100 or more.

Mr. Gehrken pointed out that an elaborate bookkeeping system is necessary, but farm operators should keep a record of the name, social security number and amount of earnings for each employee he expects to pay $100 or more in a year.

The farm operator should deduct two per cent of the total earnings of each employee paid over $100 in a year for social security taxes. He will add another two per cent from his own money to the two per cent he pays. He will report the name, social security number and amount of earnings to the Director of Internal Revenue after the end of the year. Mr. Gehrken suggests that any farm operator who has hired hands to whom he expects to pay $100 or more cash wages should contact the Internal Revenue Service or the Social Security office to be sure of getting needed information.

Belle Glade's First Big Fire Historical In Its Development

By LAWRENCE WILL Fire Chief
Fortunately, a rare fire in the town that is not scourged by a disastrous fire before it decides to do something about fire protection. The storm of 1952 had devastated Belle Glade. Practically no buildings stood north of the canal and a count showed only six buildings south of the canal still standing squarely on their foundations. The others had been floated away in many cases, demolished entirely. The year following this storm, however, had been unusually favorable to farming, and the building boom, interrupted by the hurricane, had resumed its impetus. This building had been rapid, relatively, and at first, gradually, by grants from the Red Cross, but principally by the economic stimulation caused by building supply dealers, and building materials strewn high and dry on the beach. The boom of '52, following the boom of '51, and the sudden prosperity in the boom-depleted farming area of Lake Okechobee.
Business houses and residences lined Main Street and Ave. A for two blocks from their junction, and these four (Continued on Page Nine) ham and John Thorne are also scraping for the guard positions. Donald Tanner, senior letterman, seems to have the inside track for the center slot but Charles Royal and Jim Dooley are showing improvement and will also be a factor. Earl Warman, a junior weighing 174 pounds is a good prospect for either guard or tackle.

Elli Armstrong and Glenn Caraway are making spirited and determined bids for first string ends but close on their heels are Leo James and J. P. Jones. Both Armstrong and Caraway are excellent backfield material if they are needed.

The highly important position of quarterback is being vigorously sought after by Wayne Bair and Glenn Caraway with Bair holding a slight edge by reason of his superior passing ability. It is rumored, however, that Larry Harris, a sophomore on the "B" squad will have Bair hustling for his job by mid-season.

The boys in the backfield who are bringing the smiles to the coaches' faces are Billy Jackson and Leon Burkett. Jackson, a junior fullback bids fair to fill the shoes of the departed Walter Mosley. Burkett is the speed merchant of the backfield and develops into a good breakaway runner. Other backs who are expected to be of value to the squad are Billy Lee, 190 pound freshman, Dan Jones, Jimmy Cowart, John Thompson and Louis Friedhelm. All these boys are capable of playing first string ball and of creating some keen competition for starting jobs.

It's too early in the season to make predictions about wins and losses but one thing is fairly certain: the 1955 Rams are going to make the game interesting for their opponents.

Your city proposes to finance the improvements by issuance of bonds to be repaid out of franchise money coming annually from the Florida Power and Light, and from no other source.

This commitment should be planned down by action just as soon as practicable. If it is not there will be a tendency to "stretch" a few dollars for that and "just a little" for that—and we won't have any swimming pool or other recreational improvements.

Hi School News

By FRANCES SLOAN

Hi Gang!

Sure am glad to see all the old faces back again, including some new ones of course, which we are glad to see here with us. Well, after a short, but refreshing summer I assume we're all ready to settle down once more and get back to the old grind. We have a few new teachers, along with the new resolutions of the old ones, which we sure will get along fine with, if we give them half a chance. Since this is the last year for a lot of us I truly hope we will, and try to be a guiding light for the underclassmen.

I'll try to keep you informed on most everything that goes on, but I'd sure appreciate your help, too.

Many organizations are growing in number and enthusiasm, such as the band and the football team, and are looking forward to a very exciting year. The Student Council has a good start and let's all back them up with whatever they try to do for school. If everyone will co-operate, and see it their own, I think we can make our new Teen Center, a big success. All we have to do is try one half as much as those who are putting it over for us.

Seriously gang, let's create a good school spirit and have a wonderful year together. Huh? Thanks for listening.

Hibiscus Show In St. Petersburg

The Suncoast Hibiscus Show, "Hibiscus Unlimited," being presented by the Palmer Hibiscus Club, will be an entirely new type of flower show. It will be held Saturday, Sept. 10, from 12:30 to 8:00, at the Sunshine Lettercarriers Hall, 315 15th Ave. South, in St. Petersburg. Original and very ingenious ways to accent the forms and enhance the colors of the individual blooms will be used. This new staging technique is a most effective way to project in detail the beauties of the hibiscus. It is a show which has been developed to keep pace with the need for more effective display methods.

The show will feature hibiscus blooms exhibited against backgrounds complimentary to the individual color of the different varieties. They will be placed on geometric forms so as to be best viewed for the full beauty of the flower. The display blooms will be shown on large screens placed against the walls, giving tapestry effects. Artistic designs featuring hibiscus will be entered by garden club members. Corsages made of hibiscus will be classed by color on a "corsage tree."

The educational exhibits will show the propagation by constant mist, airlayering, and grafting. Seedlings, the plants raised by the local Hibiscus Club, will be on display. Hibiscus will be used in decorative designs for tables and in new ways of using hibiscus in the home. New seedlings showing a bloom and a leaf, accompanied by details of the habit of growth and blooming, will be judged individually by a special group of judges for a Seeding Award.

Seedling Award winners will be photographed and publicized in the Florida Sub-Tropical Gardener Magazine. There will be commercial exhibits of plant foods, fertilizers, sprays and dusts, garden supplies, and garden magazines.

Hourly door prizes will be given. Tri-color ribbons will be awarded in the artistic and horticultural divisions.

This will be a standard Specialty show. The public is invited to exhibit and to attend the show. The closing time for exhibits is 11:00 a.m. The show opens at 12:30 and closes at 8:00 p.m. Further information may be secured from the club secretary, Mrs. A. S. Landau, 5143 8th Ave. North, St. Petersburg, Fla., phone 32-6764.

LARSON ANNOUNCES NEW AUTO INSURANCE

New rates for automobile material damage coverage will save Florida policyholders an estimated $3,900,000 annually in insurance premiums, State Insurance Commissioner J. Edwin Larson said today.

The new rates, filed by the National Automobile Underwriters Association for its Florida members, will be effective Monday, August 29.

Under the revised rates, annual premiums Floridians are paying for comprehensive private passenger insurance will be reduced about 10 per cent, Larson said. Private passenger $50 deductible collision premiums will be reduced about 14 per cent and reduction in premiums for $100 deductible collision insurance will amount to about 25 per cent.

The revised rates also will result in a 10 per cent reduction in collision premiums for risks where a driver under 25 years of age has successfully completed a recognized driver education course.

Larson said the new rates also include premium reductions for some types of commercial vehicle insurance.

Present popularity of American grass racing can be traced directly to Hialeah, which was the first modern track on this continent to put in a turf course. That was in 1931.

Florida Citrus Mutual has announced completion of successful negotiations with the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad for the sale of Florida citrus juices to the railway's coach passengers.

BELLE GLADE'S

blocks had been paved with black top, and had sidewalks. A City Hall had been erected, replacing the open pavilion which served before the storm. Buildings were being sprung up on every hand.
So it was at dawn on a Monday in Feb. 1950, when late A. City Hall had been erected, replacing the open pavilion which served before the storm. Buildings were being sprung up on every hand.

armed. Bush's first thought, of course, was to awaken the Friedheim family whose living quarters were on the south side and toward the rear of the store. The dense and poisonous chemical fumes precluded the possibility of entering by the door. He had attempted to rouse the family by shouts and beating on the walls. On my arrival we wrenched a screen from a bedroom window, and with a boost from Bush and by holding my breath, it was possible to reach clear across the nearest bed, which proved to be neatly made up. We later learned that the family had spent the weekend in Lake Worth and had not yet returned.
Now began the comedy of errors caused by lack of preparation for such an emergency. The only firefighting apparatus on the shores of Lake Okechobee at that time was an American LaFrance 750gpm pumper at Moore Haven. However, the road between Belle Glade and Clewiston was under construction and almost impassable. Somebody phoned into West Palm Beach for help. This city generously sent a pumper which arrived almost to Six-Mile Bend when a fire blew out and there she stayed. Fire trucks don't carry spares.

The hotel keeper, John Mangas, brought himself of the rig used by the Fire Control District for extinguishing muck fires. It was supposed to be kept in Belle Glade when not in use but since the operator lived in Lake Harbor, that is where the pumper could be presumed to be. John said afterward he drove the twelve miles at 60 miles per hour. If so, it was a minor miracle that he got there at all.

Meanwhile it had been recalled that the city was possessed of a 40-foot foam fire extinguisher mounted on wheels. Had it been brought out at first and properly used, it is doubtful if it would have been effective in the darkness and when the foam was used, it arrived the supply store was nearly consumed and the leaping flames hungrily attacked the new two story building adjoining it on the north and which was occupied by a clothing store and a pool room above. The foam extinguisher was rolled to the front door with a whoop and hush. Here it was a "chemical." It ought to put the fire out. After considerable opening of valves and pulling off of hose it emitted a noble stream of sucking liquid. This blacked the fire where it hit. Had there been fifty more they might have conquered the fire. "What now? It's quit!" About 30 seconds and that was all. The shafts had been lowered to the ground the wrong way. The suction pipe instead of being in the deepest part of the tank was in the shallowest.

The only building to the south of the fertilizer store and separated from it by a narrow lot, was an auto repair shop run by Nello, Joe and Clara Greer. A slight early morning breeze had sprung up, just enough to waft the heat against this garage. The boys put up a noble battle to save their building. By the use of garden hose and buckets they were successful in saving all but the eaves and window frames on the exposed side.
The two-story building was a flaming torch. Next in line and close against it stood the big general merchandise and grocery store of V. C. Denton, operated by Lou Betzner. By now the whole population had turned out and was busily engaged in evacuating merchandise into the street. The large stock of buckets was immediately put into service for a bucket brigade. The source of water being the overflow of cooling water from the Florida Power and Light Company's diesel engine at the rear of Pioneer Service Station, across the street. Two lines hastily formed from power plant to fire, men in one line to pass the full buckets, women facing them to pass the empties back. There was no lack of willing hands, but the utter futility of it was evident to all and with sickening hearts we watched the flaming framework of the pool hall collapse in a geyser of fiery embers.

The fire burned slowly against the wind, most of the heat and smoke going straight up. It was a beautiful cloudless morning. Through some freak of atmospheric conditions people at the Brown Farm 14 miles down the Hillsboro were able to view the progress of the fire from start to finish in clearest detail.
The intensity of the heat cracked a plate glass window in Bore's new store across the hundred foot street. As the fire progressed along the block it became almost opposite to my building. Should the wind swing eastward, I could foresee the end of everything I owned in the world. Dashing upstairs I told the wife to pack her clothes, wrap up the baby and be prepared to leave.
As always in such a conflagration, the cry went up to stop the progress with dynamite. The Greens, their own place being now comparatively safe, and they being experienced powder men, actually attempted to dynamite the grocery store, also it was at the time under construction. This too, proved to be a futile effort. Wooden buildings, even when mined with an ample supply of powder placed carefully and deliberately, do not submit satisfactorily to demolition by dynamite. With a minimum of sticks and with the fire practically scorching their shirt tails it is small wonder the blast produced no noticeable effect.
Next to the grocery and separated from it by a narrow five-foot passageway, was the one story Postal Telegraph office and a store. Abutting this was the last building in the block, the Ford garage which had just been rebuilt after being flattened by the storm.
It seemed that nothing could now be done to save these last two buildings. Everything movable had been stripped or rolled out. The roof on Denton's store had collapsed and flames licked at the side of the Postal office. At this critical moment our last hope appeared, and not an instant too soon. Only by exaggeration could it be called a fire engine—this muck-fire rig. It consisted of a very old Oakland automobile. A small gear pump was connected to its crankshaft. It carried several hundred feet of 1½ inch cotton hose and nozzle. That was all. As it drove past the last of the burning buildings, one end of the hose was dropped off. Nobody thought at the moment about needing a nozzle. The car proceeded to the canal, dropped its hose, and quickly got water. It was then discovered that the hose had been laid wrong end to. Hundreds of ready hands quickly swapped ends, attached the nozzle, and presto, at last we had some water! Fortunately, the fire had not yet penetrated the Postal building. That five-foot gap on the windward side was enough. The little stream kept the walls and roof wet until the fire had burned itself out, at which point the fire pump, having been taxed beyond its capacity, with a mournful "clank" gave up the ghost amid a shower of cast iron and was retired to the repair shop.

Local Youth Joins Famous Hurricanes

Lynn A. Dasher, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Dasher of South Bay enlisted in the Navy for a four-year period in the famous Florida's "Hurricanes" on Aug. 29.
He is a graduate of Belle Glade High School class of 1955 and was on the baseball and basketball teams. He was a member of the National Guard in 1952 and 1954.
A gala send-off was performed for Lynn and the five other youths from surrounding towns at the railroad station in West Palm Beach before taking off on the 11:08 train for Jacksonville.
Friends and relatives of the group were on hand to bid the "Stars"-to-be farewell and best wishes on their Navy Cruise. He said that due to so much interest in the Navy's special "Buddy Program", a program where a youth and his best pals may join up and the Navy will assume them that they will remain together all during their navy career, the Navy is extending this program indefinitely. This special company is composed of young men from the state of Florida only.
So all you pals that are interested, see Chief Tillman at the Belle Glade Local Draft Board on Tuesday, Wednesday or Friday between 9:30 a.m. and 2:00 p.m.

3,588 NEW FOLKS WEEKLY IN FLORIDA

New families have been moving into Florida at the rate of 771 per week during the past five years.
This rate of flow of new residents coming into the state has resulted in a gain of 694,500 persons, 1950 to July 1, 1955, who have moved to Florida to become permanent residents, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday.
This immigration gain accounted for 74 per cent of Florida's total population increase. The natural increase from births amounted to an additional 243,900 persons, 26 per cent of the total gain.
This week's business review of the State Chamber's research and industrial division places the weekly average increase in natural growth at a five year average of 927 persons (46 more than the revised 1954 figure) and the in-migration flow at 2,641 persons, making a total swell in the state's population of 3,588 persons every week.
On July 1, 1955 Florida had a population count of approximately 3,709,700, a jump of 33.8 per cent in five years compared with a national increase of 8.5 per cent.

Washington See Saw

WASHINGTON — Perhaps what could best be considered as the "heartbeat" of a Senator's office is a gray bag which is delivered three times a day and contains the many pieces of mail including circulars, newspapers, and a volume of letters from persons of every walk of life concerning a vast variety of matters.

A few weeks ago, Senator,

Smathers received a letter from Mrs. Ruth M. Calvo of Tampa, who wrote about her 16-year-old son, David, and his great wish to become an honorary member of the United States Air Force. Even though David is a victim of muscular dystrophy and bed-ridden a great deal of the time, he is intelligent and alert, and derives much pleasure from his hobby of watching, studying, and drawing airplanes.

After the Senator had read Mrs. Calvo's letter, he consulted with one of his secretaries whose main work had to do with the various military departments, and as it happened—whose own father is afflicted with the same disease as that which David suffers from. Inquiry of the Air Force revealed that they did not have honorary memberships, however the Senator then wrote to the Civil Air Patrol which in turn contacted the Florida CAP approving a certificate of honorary membership, as well as a pair of wings, to be presented to David.

The presentation was made by Colonel Joseph F. Moody, Wing Commander of the Florida Civil Air Patrol. A letter was recently received from Mrs. Calvo expressing her gratitude, and relating how thrilled and happy this had made her son. But we don't believe Senator Smathers needs any other thanks than the shining eyes and happy smile on David's face as shown in a picture taken during the presentation.

Airport Transfer

We are happy to report that the Department of Navy will transfer the former Naval Air Station at Ft. Lauderdale to Broward County. This is indeed good news for it will give the County the go-ahead to extend and modernize the airport and its facilities to better serve the progress and economy of Ft. Lauderdale and surrounding areas.

Florida Chamber Busy On State's Water Problems

Harold Cole, executive vice president of Florida State Chamber of Commerce, today issued the following statement on Florida's water supply, saying that conferences held at Winter Haven and Leesburg this month had tended to develop clearer thinking on the subject. The statement follows:

"Florida's abundant water supply cannot be expected to go out of its way to accommodate man. This truth, recognized in central and southern Florida, is beginning to seep through to men's minds in other areas of the state. Public admission of the fact was made by the 1955 legislature when that body authorized the setting up of a water study committee. Water conservation laws may have to be enacted. The committee will ascertain if they are needed, reporting its findings to the 1957 session.

"No one disputes geologists who say that Florida has water enough for the requirements of an empire. In clinching their argument they point to an estimated runoff of 40 billion gallons per day, water which flows through Florida's springs, rivers and lakes into the sea. Florida is now using something over a billion gallons of water per day for all uses, they estimate.

"This is not to say that Florida has no water problems. A. O. Patterson is quoted as saying, but it is more a question of distribution of the water resources than it is of total quantity." Mr. Patterson is district engineer of the U.S. Geological Survey, stationed at Ocala.

Obviously, whatever is needed.

of the runoff water may be redistributed by man. He may store water against the day of drought, and he may control flood waters by the employment of engineering devices. By use of these same means he may re-build the water table, now very low in a few parts of the state owing (1) to the 5-year drought, and, (2) to the employment of wasteful methods.

"It is true," reports the State Geological Survey, "that in a few areas some trouble is experienced in obtaining water because of low formation yield and that some areas along the coast have not spaced wells widely and have withdrawn water from the aquifer for both too rapidly, allowing salt water from the ocean to contaminate the well fields. Some of our rocks contain entrapped salt water which may be flushed out in wells and in addition the levels of ground water in wells have been decreased in some areas because of overdevelopment. A wise and controlled usage is strongly recommended for those areas, but elsewhere there is an abundance of water."

"In a vast Central and Southern area of the state is being constructed, with Federal financial aid, one of the biggest water systems of all times. Water not immediately needed will be caught up in reservoirs. Oversupply will be channeled safely out to sea. There will be no floods, no droughts. Millions of acres of land will be reclaimed.

"Three aspects of the state's water situation beg immediate consideration: (1) present defects (they are spotty, to be sure, but in some locales may be approaching the acute stage); (2) the almost certain doubling of the state's population in the next 20 years; and, (3) the state's rapid industrialization.

"Two steps have been taken by the State Chamber to develop a sharper statewide awareness of Florida's water assets and needs.

"1. The organization's facilities have already been placed squarely behind the legislative interim study committee, headed by Byron Herlong of Leesburg, and

"2. Information bulletins will be published by the organization's Flood and Water Control Committee, of which Luther Jones of Belle Glade is chairman, these being addressed to local public officials, chambers of commerce, and other organized groups wrestling with water problems. These bulletins will recount experiences thus far gained by conservationists; will outline financial and engineering approaches toward watershed controls, and report upon achievements."

FFVA Convention To Hear Senator Smathers

"Florida Grows and Grows," will be the subject of the keynote address by Senator George Smathers at the 12th Annual Convention of the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association at Hotel Fontainebleau, Miami Beach, on Oct. 4, according to Convention Chairman George Cooper, Princeton.

"Senator Smathers' acceptance of the invitation to address our forthcoming convention is a genuine honor for this Association. His knowledge of and interest in Florida agriculture assure a most interesting and informative address which all persons interested in Florida Agriculture should hear," said Cooper.

"Convention invitations have been mailed and a general invitation is issued to everyone interested in this industry to attend this convention," Cooper added.

The three-day event will open at noon on Oct. 4 and close at noon Oct. 6.
